

Fall Session Begins Thursday, Sept. 16

Classes Will Start Monday Sept. 20

Packing their bags to leave for a month's break between terms, UK students checked Sept. 16 on their calendars as the day fall registration gets underway.

They'll begin strolling up for classes on Thursday, Sept. 16, and continue through Friday. Classes start Monday.

Many universities throughout the country will go through a slackening in enrollment, according to Registrar Maurice Seay, but UK won't be one of this group.

"The University is not 'filled up' for fall and it is not difficult for qualified prospective students to gain admission," Dr. Seay said.

Kentuckians on campus will be joined by a large number of out-of-state and foreign students. There is no ceiling on non-Kentucky applicants, but many of the foreign students are having passport and currency troubles, which might limit their numbers, according to Dr. Seay.

"Our physical plant has been supplemented to provide more facilities for the student, and the faculty has been greatly strengthened," he said.

Vice President Leo M. Chamberlain said that 21 war surplus structures will be used for classrooms and storage space, and that temporary living units will house over 1000 students.

Housing Shortage Acute

But a hitch in another record enrollment could be found in the lack of living quarters.

"The housing shortage will be as acute this fall as ever before," Dean A. D. Kilman said.

He said his worst headache was finding living quarters for married veterans.

The waiting list for Cooperstown and Shawneetown already totals more than the combined number of married veterans living both places. Cooperstown will house 130 married veterans, and Shawneetown holds 120.

Five hundred freshmen will fill the men's dormitories, and the barracks will provide living space for about 500.

Fraternity houses will take care of about 600 men, the dean said.

Housing for women is limited, too. All the dormitories are full, according to Dean Sarah B. Holmes, and any cancellations will probably be filled easily by new applicants.

Applications for rooms are slow in coming, she said.

Women's dormitories and smaller units house 721 students, and sorority houses can handle about 250 more. Two new women's houses were recently purchased.

Students who don't get in a University living unit must live in private homes or commute. Lists of rooming and boarding houses are kept in the offices of the deans of men and women.

No big social events have been scheduled for early fall, according to Miss Margaret Bruce Cruise, social director.

Grads Will Be Victims Of Triakadekaphobia

By Stanley J. Schill
Numerology Editor

What a way to start out in the world!

Those unfortunate souls who become alumni today, will have the curse of "Friday the thirteenth" hanging over them.

Those who will have to speak will undoubtedly stumble over the simplest words, and just as you girls are about to receive your diplomas on the platform, you will trip and fall flat on your faces.

There will be someone who will step on the trailing end of his gown as he arises, and rip the bottom right off of it.

For the rest of their normal lives, if you could call them normal, today's graduates will be plagued by bad luck if the curse holds true.

All through modern history people have feared this day, and with good reason.

Historic Fear

Fear of Friday was handed down to us from the day Christ was supposed to have died. Triakadekaphobia or fear of 13 comes to us from the 13 people present at the Last Supper.

Still not scared, huh?

Well, get this! All the diplomas will be signed by both the president of the University and the governor. Nothing wrong with that, you say? Well, Herman Donovan has 13 letters in it—count 'em. Earle Clements has the same number.

To go a little further, our espionage service reports that changes are being made in the commencement program.

The graduates are to be draped in black, the color of death, and are to walk down an aisle covered by a canopy of ladders, and each will hold a leash, on the other end of which will be a black cat. They will march to the tune of "Lead

Board Authorizes Funds To Finish UK Fieldhouse

Enough money to complete the Memorial Auditorium Fieldhouse was authorized through the issuance of $800,000 in revenue bonds by the Board of Trustees.

The bonds were issued to a Louisville and Lexington syndicate at a bid of $1,020 for each $1,000 bond. That bid was the only one received, according to Frank D. Peterson, comptroller.

Issue of the 800 bonds will supply the revenue necessary to supplement available funds for the structure's completion.

The needs for the funds resulted from the fact that the appropriations from the state amounted to $1,700,000 while the total of four low bids on the completion work was about $2,500,000. Contracts for the final phases of work have already been awarded.

Income from the operation of the fieldhouse will be used to pay off the bonds over a 20-year period.

The University has already spent over $1,000,000 on the project since the start of work in April, 1947.

UK Students Qualify As Expert Riflemen

George T. Sparrow, UK student of Elizabethtown, had one of the two highest scores in marksmanship among 177 ROTC trainees at Camp Campbell, it was announced recently.

He attained a high score of 188 from a possible 210.

Eight UK students were among 31 trainees who qualified as expert riflemen. They are Edgar J. Huet, Sidney Mitchell, Edwin S. Walters, Charles Wachtman, David S. Fields, Jr., Wynn G. Mowley, John D. Steele, and Sparrow.

Committee Named By Phi Delta Kappa

Phi Delta Kappa, National Honorary Education Fraternity, appointed nine members as representatives to national committees of the organization at a recent meeting.

Named to represent the fraternity were Dean W. J. Moore, Charles Pollard, Harold C. S. Robinson, Dr. Ralph Cherry, N. B. McMillan, Taft Botner, Frank Bean, James B. McEwen, and Roscoe Playforth.

Kyians Ready

Today is the last day to pick up Kentuckians. A limited number is available to those who wish to buy a copy.

The Kentuckian office will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the McVey Hall sub-basement.

Delegates Attend World Conference

Combloux, France, was the scene of a recent reunion of UK's two students in Europe, Harold Friedly and Shelby Darbishire.

The occasion was an international conference of student leaders with representatives of UNESCO to discuss the problems of university reconstruction.

Friedly, traveling for the World Student Service Fund, United States student welfare organization, had completed a tour of German centers of learning which included Freiburg and Heidelberg.

Darbishire, local SGA delegate to WSSF-sponsored study tours of Europe, had arrived from travels through England and France.

The two UK seniors exchanged notes on conditions in universities in Europe before submitting reports for publication in U.S. newspapers.

Ag Field Day Held Here Yesterday

The Agriculture Experiment Station held its annual field day yesterday at the station.

The public for the first time was admitted to the dairy center and to see herds and flocks kept for experimental purposes.

Among the things exhibited were burley and dark tobacco resistant to disease; effects of rotation and cropping systems on tobacco; different types of hybrid corn, growing in different rotations and with various applications of fertilizers; and a demonstration in the use of the chemical, 24-D, to control weeds.

Tables Are Turned As Students Grade Commerce Profs

By Stanley J. Schill
Education Editor

Something new has been added to the grade system at the University. The proverbial worm has turned, and the professors are liable to find the tables falling on them soon.

With final exams in sight, a group of commerce students living in the Scott Street Barracks have decided to get back at their instructors by showing them what it feels like to be graded.

A poll was taken of all the barracks men who have ever taken courses in the College of Commerce to see how they felt about the way their students. Although the straw vote is not official, nor a good cross-section of student opinion, it is hoped that the idea might catch on, and that the project might become campus-wide in the fall.

Nearly 400 Seniors Graduating Tonight

Largest Summer Class To Receive Diplomas At Amphitheater Exercises

Nearly 400 graduating candidates, largest summer graduating class in the University's history, will receive degrees tonight in the Memorial Hall Amphitheater.

The graduates, who will file into the amphitheater at 7:30 p.m., will hear Dr. Alfred Leland Crabb, Nashville author and educator, give the commencement address.

"Everything Begins At Home" is the title of Dr. Crabb's speech. Dr. Crabb, an historical novelist, is the author of "Supper at Maxwell House," "Dinner at Belmont," "Breakfast at the Hermitage," "Lodging at the St. Cloud," and a new book, "Home to the Hermitage," published this year.

The speaker is a native Kentuckian and has received the Litt.D. from UK. He is now professor of education at George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville.

Graduation candidates may ask at the dean of women's office this morning for additional reserved tickets, in case any were left over. Each candidate was originally allotted two tickets.

Eight hundred seats are reserved in the Amphitheater, but if it rains tonight the ceremony will be held in Memorial Hall where only 550 seats can be reserved. Early arrivals will get those.

After Dr. Crabb's address, President H. L. Donovan will confer degrees by one statement to each of the colleges, and each candidate will step forward to get his diploma from his dean.

When the diplomas have been distributed, Vice President Leo M. Chamberlain will give the charge to the graduating class.

Dr. Paul Shell Powell, president of Kentucky Wesleyan College, will give the invocation and benediction. Following the invocation, Miss Ruth Pinnell, voice instructor and soprano, will sing "Build Thee More Stately Mansions."

Audience To Sing

The entire audience will conclude the program by singing the national anthem. At the end of the exercises a carillon bell program will be presented.

The graduating class will assemble at 7 o'clock tonight in columns of two, wearing caps and gowns. The columns will start at the iron gate posts near Anderson Hall and will extend back along the road leading from Middle Hall.

At 7:25 p.m. the procession will begin the march to the strains of organ music, played by Miss Lela Cullis, through the Memorial Hall amplifier.

WBKY Will Broadcast

WBKY will broadcast the ceremony, starting at 7:30 p.m. President Donovan and Dr. Crabb will lead the order of march.

They will be followed by the Board of Trustees, former trustees, official guests, Dr. Chamberlain, Dean Maurice Seay, Comptroller Peterson, and other departmental administrative staff, and alumni.

Next in line will be the faculty of the colleges of arts and sciences, agriculture, and home economics, engineering, law, education, commerce, and pharmacy.

Students in procession will be the candidates for advanced degrees, and finally, the candidates for bachelor degrees.

The Spice Of Life

By Ruby Graham

Hats and coats off to the "Conscientious Kernel Reader" who supplied the pickles to last week's spice! That was one take-off which crashed the campus.

The Margaret King Library was the center of social activities for the weekend. There weren't enough dark corners to go around.

Rebe Caldwell seems to have an unlimited supply of those ever-popular "Trinity" pins.

Tom Duncan was back on the campus recently looking over the sights.

The two Stone bachelors at the Sig Ep House are getting married soon. Jim Stone will marry Dusty Newland in Louisville. Roy Stone and Norma Jean Smith will have a September wedding in Owensboro.

The Triangles can't play scales on their new piano—but Chopsticks has been drawn to scale.

Chiff Miller is aging rapidly due to his worries over how to get to Harlan for the Jackie Cawood-Wilbur Adams wedding. Chiff will be best man in worse shape.

The Phi Delt's were out en masse in Louisville last weekend for Dick Tygrette's vows to Jerry Newbern. They also brightened the parties quite a bit.

The Pi Kaps are desperate. What will they do after "heap-big party man" Slick Taylor graduates tonight?

Jack Wilkenson is the first non-Phi Delt to live in the Phi Delt House and come out alive, much less with a degree. Jack is a Phi Gam transfer from the University of North Carolina.

Joe Evans has scheduled a big weekend. Tonight he graduates, tomorrow he marries Helen Horlacher, and Sunday he has a birthday. The Phi Sigs entertained him with a stag party at the Phoenix Friday night, but the party adjourned at an early hour in favor of the show at the Zebra.

Ida Manchikes has been appointed custodian of Marion Mason's pin.

A variety of subject matter is discussed on the bulletin boards in the University Post Office. I wonder if the false teeth have been returned to their owner.

Toni Prather, J. C. Powell, and Bob Summers are leaving soon for the national Phi Sig convention in Boston. Will they be banned?

Carol Houchins and Nancy Jo Stevens are among the couples with wedding plans. Hudson Nichols and Betty Sharp took the fatal step Tuesday night.

Perhaps I should bid "I do" instead of "adieu" as a vacation parting. From the events of the week it looks as though the campus population has marrying on the mind.

If you came to summer school to get married and didn't, remember that the grass is always greener in the fall. See ya' in September!

order, were C. C. Carpenter, Ralph R. Pickett, Herman Ellis, D. C. McMurtry, and W. S. Connor.

Due to the fact that the poll was limited to such a small sample of students, all the instructors in the college were unfortunately not rated. The results therefore, are far from conclusive.

A precedent has been set however, so professors beware! Comes the revolution

Rejoice, all you happy people — just one more day to go. All that's left now is to take a quick fling at those finals, throw some clothes in a suitcase, and take off. He loves himself too much. The other day he bought a book called "What Two Million Women Want" just to see if they'd spelled his name right.

Any similarity to actual persons living or dead, is purely coincidental — it says here.

Since this issue will probably find its way into the homes of many of the students, and might possibly wind up in the hands of those guardian angels who pay all the bills, here's one for Dad.

At to think that I mortgaged the house to send my boy to college. All he does is go out with girls, drink and smoke.

Lodge brother — Do you regret it?
Father — Yes, I should have gone myself.

Before the steam gives out, we'd like to give our fond regards to our guiding star who has kept us from being sued for libel too often — Jack Sorrelle, editor of the Kernel. Now that this issue has gone to press, Jack is an alumnus. So good luck to you Jack, and to Babs (that's his wife) too.

You gotta give 'em credit. An eskimo is the only one who can be married one day and have a good sized family before the end of the next day.

Have fun evubuddy!

Gridders Start Prepping For Opener On September 1

Wildcats Meet Xavier Here On September 15

The 1948 edition of the Kentucky Wildcats starts prepping for its opener with Xavier on September 1. The Musketeers will invade enlarged Stoll field three weeks later on the night of September 25. More than 30,000 autumn-clad fans are expected to be on hand to make up the largest audience ever to witness a football game in the State.

Despite heavy losses in the forward wall, the Wildcats will be comfortable favorites. Observers point with pride at nearly a dozen tested and proven backfield men, and a view of last year's reserves to pull the Cats through their opener victorious.

Head Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant expects 50 veterans and nearly twice that many freshmen to report for opening day drills.

From a crop of better-than-average sophomores and a few eligible freshmen, Bryant and his assistants will have to find replacements for eight of last year's regulars, six of whom were linemen.

Line Hit Hard

Gone are such stalwarts as All American third-starting pivotman Jay Rhodemyre, All-SEC Tackle Wash Sorini, Guard Leo Yarusis, and Tackle Bill Griffin, all now signed by the pros, who helped to make the '47 Kentucky line one of the best in the South.

Still around, however, will be the incomparable Wallace "Wha Wha" Jones for his fourth and final gridiron campaign, husky Harry Ulinski, moved from quarterback to center, and giant Bob Gain, a good pre-season bet for All-Conference honors at tackle.

Other seasoned linemen sure to see much action this fall are Ends Benny Zaranka, Charles Bentley, and Jerry Claiborne, Tackles Frank Smotherman, Doc Ferrell, Lloyd McDermott, Guards Dick Holway, Bill Dawson, Pat James, Roy Porter, and Center Bob Woodke, to mention only a few. These and many others saw plenty of action last fall on the varsity. Add to them a fighting bunch of boys from the freshman and B-Teams and you have a line that is going to be strictly rugged.

Backfield Strong

In the backfield, Kentucky is two and three deep in every position with seasoned ball-carriers, especially halfbacks. And then too, you can count on at least three or four hard-driving backs from the undefeated fresh and B-Teams.

Veteran George Bianda will be understudied by Sophomore Carl Genito, as the T-formation field general, Bianda, superb kicker and a good play-caller and passer, should have his best season, but Genito will be dogging his heels all season for the starting berth.

the following afternoon, Julian Evans, fifth seeded entry from Winchester, met the same fate at the hands of the ambitious Lexingtonian.

A doubles team of Carl Hoppe and Paul King extended Leach and his partner, Bubby Boone, to five sets in the finals of that event. The spectacular net play of Hoppe and the consistent stroking of King had the fans pulling for them. However, Leach once again came through with powerful overhead net game.

Being nearly an exact replica of the recent Lexington Open tournament the women's section came out exactly as the seeders had predicted. Marjorie Murray took the cup with Marjorie Roselle taking runner-up honors. Neither had much difficulty in their early round matches.

Another repeat performance from the Lexington Open was the victory of Leach and Marjorie Murray in the mixed doubles. However, they had different opponents in the finals. Southpaw Dick Meadows fought through the elimination rounds but they fell before the champs in straight sets.

As expected, Billy Evans had little trouble in walking away with the championship in the junior division. He touched Monty Price in straight sets in the finals.

at quarterback. Bill Boller, Shorty Jamerson, Jim Howe, and Dick Martin are all fast, shifty and seasoned men. Offensively they are big threats. Take your pick and put him in the lineup and he'll give you a great game.

At fullback, you can have Don "Dopey" Phelps and Norm Klein, two small, but lightning fast boys converted from halfbacks, and big, tackle-larrying Lee Truman.

In the Xavier opener everyone of the men mentioned here and an equal number of unknowns, will probably be put into the lineup in an effort to see just what Kentucky's strength is and where it is.

One thing is certain and that is that the Cat coaches will have in time for its second game against Ole Miss, the 1947 SEC champion, the following week. That crucial game, also a night affair, will be played on Stoll Field.

U.S. Plays France In Finals

Allies in World War II, France and the United States, become peacetime adversaries on the basketball court today in the finals of the first post-war Olympics cage tournament.

The heavily-favored American team advanced to the finals by romping over Mexico, 71-40, Wednesday, while the dark-horse Frenchmen were knocking out Brazil, 43-33. Any of a half dozen other teams in the tourney were favored to reach the finals before France, but the plodding bunch of hoopsters from around the Seine, seemed to come from nowhere, while the eyes of the sports-world were focused upon the more-publicized teams.

The Frenchies barely made it into the elimination tourney with a 3-1 record in Group D with Mexico.

The previously unbeaten Mexicans topped France, 56-52, in the round robin tournament, and since the U.S. trounced Mexico, 71-40, comparative scores would indicate an American walk-away, by something like 45 points.

The cagers from South of the Border had been hailed as the "second tallest" team in the event, but they still couldn't cope with the U.S.'s lanky speedsters.

Relying chiefly upon cagers from the University of Kentucky, the Americans built up a halftime 30-15 lead. They outscored Mexico in the second half.

Big Alex Groza was again the scoring leader with 19 points. Bob Kurland, although ejected from the game because of roughness after playing but one quarter, and Wallace Jones, scored 10 points each. Lizana Acuna paced the Mexicans with nine points, followed by Captain Leon de Santos, with eight. The American-trained Santos is usually the Mexicans' No. 1 scorer.

Cliff Barker, Kentucky forward, was hurt early in the game, when he was knocked down under the basket, and hit his nose. He returned to the lineup in the second half.

US Beats Uruguay, 63-28

America's flashy unbeaten cagers vaulted into the semifinals of the Olympic basketball tournament Monday by overwhelming Uruguay, 63-28. The victory over the South American champs was the sixth in a row for the Kentucky-Phillips combine, and earned them the right to meet Mexico, the "second tallest team" in the tourney, on Wednesday.

Oilers and AAU cagers played most of the first half, building up a 23-15 lead before Kenny Rollins, Wildcat captain, went into the game. The U.S. held a 31-17 half-time advantage.

Seven-foot Bob Kurland led the U.S. with 19 points, followed by Jesse Renick and Alex Groza with 10 each.

Lombardo, Uruguay's high scoring center was held to 14 points, lowest of the tourney for him, by Groza and Renick.

Other U.S. scorers: Beck, seven; Pitts, six; Rollins, four; Barksdale, three; Boryla, two each.

In the lower bracket Mexico advanced to the semi-finals by downing Korea, 43-32.

France won a 53-52 overtime victory over Chile, and Brazil downed Czechoslovakia, 28-23, in the upper bracket, thus earning the right to play each other for a trip to the finals.

US Beats Peru, 61-33

The United States basketball team put on its greatest exhibition of speed, ball-handling, and shooting accuracy last Friday as they knocked off Peru, 61-33, to go into the elimination tourney undefeated. It was the fifth straight round robin victory for the U.S.

The lanky cagers from the Phillips 66 Company and the University of Kentucky also began to win the favor of Olympic cage fans who had thought the Americans "vulgar, insulting, roughnecks" in their first three games.
